SOME SENSATIONAL EYIDENCE

Regarding the Girl's Visit to the Barn-A Drug Clerk Testifies That She Tried to Buy Prussic Acid From Him Three Times -- Her Strange Actions When the Murders Were Discovered.

FALL RIVER, Mass., August 29 .- The court was called to order in the mysterious Borden case at 10:45 sharp, but at 8 o'clock the dingy court room was

During the taking of the testimony, Miss Alice M. Russell created a sensation by testifying that immediately after the discovery of the murder, Miss Lizzie Borden told her that her alleged visit to the barn was to procure a piece of iron or tin with which to fix a win dow. This contradicts subsequent statements of Miss Lizzie that she went there for lead sinkers.

Eli Bence, a drug clerk, testified that Lizzie Borden called at his store three times the day before the murders for prussale acid and was refused.

Mrs. Adelaide B. Churchill was the

Mrs. Adelaide B. Churchill was the first witness called.

She said she lived next to the Bordens on the north side of the street and she remembered well the first day of the tragedy. The first she remembered of her attention being called to the affair was when she saw Bridget going for Dr. Bowen. About the same time she saw Vivie strading against the side of the was when she saw Bridget going for Dr. Bowen. About the same time she saw Lizzie standing against the side of the side door apparently distressed about something; opened the window and saked her where her father was, and she replied: "In the sitting room." Asked her where she was when it happened and she said she was in the barn looking for some sinkers.

Witness also said that so far as she knows she was the first one outside the family who was called to the house. The time, as nearly as witness could recollect, was about it o'clock. Witness asked Lizzie where her mother was and she said her mother had a note to go somewhere but she did not know but that she had been killed, too. She wished somebody would go and try to find her, for she thought she had come in since. Sire said her father must have an enemy, for every one in the house in since. She said her father must have an enemy, for every one in the house had been sick. After the neighbors had commenced to come in Lizze said again that she wished some one would go and try to find Mrs. Borden, for she was sure she heard her come in.

Witness said that when she got inside the house, Lizzie was so much agitated that she fanned her, fearing she would faint. Witness stated that when they wentup stairs to look for Mrs. Borden they found the door of Mrs. Borden's

Miss Alice M. Russell, the next witness said she went to the house and found Lizzie leaning against the door and she remembered Lizzie telling her, in answer to a question, that she went into the barn to get a piece of iron or tin to fix a window with (sensation).

Miss Lucy Coolet testified that she was stopping at Dr. Chagnon's house on the day of the murders to take care of the telephone. She went at 11:10 and stayed until 12 o'clock noon. She sat on the piazza all the time because she could not get into the house. From where she sat she said she could see all the yard of the Bordens. During the time she was there she saw no one passshe was there she saw no one passing in the yard.

On cross-examination she admitted that she was where she could not see the whole of the Borden yard, but she was sure that if anybody had entered the yard she would have heard them.

After a recess Eli Bence, drug clerk, restified that he remembered the day of the world was acquainted with Lizzie and was acquainted with Lizzie.

After a recess Eli Bence, drug clerk, testified that he remembered the day of tragedy and was acquainted with Lizzle Borden. Witness saw her in the store the day before and she asked him for ten cents worth of prussic acid to put on a seal sacque or cape, but he told her he could not sell it without a physician's prescription. His attention was called to the fact that she was in the store on Thursday evening and soon after that again about 6 o'clock Fred D. Hart, drug clerk, Frank H. Kilroy, medical student, corroborated the above. Joseph Deroches testified by the aid of an interpreter. He was sawing wood in John Crowe's yard on the day of the tragedy. Saw no one going over the trace that day nor did he see anybody in the next yard.

Patrick H. Doherty, police officer, testified Miss Borden was asked by witness where she was when the murder took place, and she said: "In the barn." She said she heard some kind of peculiar noise while she was there. John Fleet, assistant city marshal, told the story of going to the house and finding the bodies. At no time, the witness said, was Lizzle in tears.

The court adjourned until 10:15 a. m. to-morrow. The strongest point brought out by this morning's testimony, the state's officials say, was Lizzie's remark, of her mother to Mrs. Churchhill, according to that lady's testimony: "I don't know but she has been killed too." What reason, asked the official, did Liszie have for believing that her mother had been killed, considering the circumstances already brought out, viz: that Lizzie was up stairs when her rather came in, when Mrs. Borden had been dead about an hour, and went down stairs and told him that his wife was ont, but failed to say anything about thinking she heard Mrs. Borden come in.

On the other hand an important fact was brought out by Lawyer Jennings in his cross-examination of Miss Russell. That lady bathed Lizzie's face and famned her and did not notice any signs of blood whatever about the accused. That was only ten or fifteen minutes after Lizzie called for Bridget to come down stairs.

PINKERTON DETECTIVES

HOMESTEAD, PA., August 29,-There as much expectancy and subdued excitements in Homestead-this morning over a search for the guns of captured Pinkertons, which has been ordered for this evening. Much of the reluctance in giving up the arms lies in the fact that the possession would fix upon the Homesteaders complicity in the riots and that this evidence will be used in hydrographs. bringing suits.

It was learned this afternoon that the Pinkerton agency some time are sent out men into the mill as non-union workmen. These men deserted in small squads and were taken into the strikers' ranks. They gained the confidence of the Amalgamsted leaders and have, it is said gathered considerable evidence against participants in the riot of July 6 against whem they will make informations. It is also said that they have discovered the hiding place of the captured rifles and will proceed against those who have possession of them.

Two months ago to-day the great steel works here shut down, and so far as the men are concerned, there is no weakening, nor do the majority express any dount of victory. They are really conducting a surprisingly strong fight considering the number of men and the admixture of races and trades. All are being held in line, and show much enthusiasm. The firm naturally insists that so far as it is concerned the strike is over and points to the mill as an evidence. It is in part in successful operation, though not nearly as full as during June.

Several more Homestead families left with their furniture this morning for the Ohio Valley. A railroad official told the Associated Press correspondent that his road alone has averaged three family movings a day for two weeks, and that many more called to inquire about freight rates.

Late this afternoon William Oefiner and M. J. Connolly, strikers, were arrested on warrants sworn out by Pinkerton detectives charging them with riot and aggravated assault. The Pinkertons have sworn out warrants against fourteen others on the same charge, but refused to give names. None of the rifles have as yet been found.

Four additional arrests have been made to-night, as follows: Thomas J. Crawford, acting chairman advisory committee, wm. H. Catcher, George Ryland, Burgess McLuckie and John Edwards offense is described as aggravated riot. All but Edwards have been released on ball. across the Rio Grande for the purpose of irrigating both in Maxico and the United States. William Hamilton, of New York, is at the head of the project and the company is incorporated for a capital of $10,000,000. The dam will be built about five miles above El Paso in Mountain Gateway. It will be 560 feet long, of solid masonry from ellift to cliff, resting on a solid limestone foundation and will be seventy feet high. Col. Adson Mills, of the United States Corps of Engineers, estimates the cost of the dam at $300,000.

There will be two double gates on the Texas side of the canyon and two of precisely the same size and pattern on the Mexican sides. From these gates two will be cut through the rock following the bluff on the Texas and Mexican sides capable of carrying a volume of water twenty jest wide and ten feet deep. Colonel Mills estimated the full cost of the completed system in building the dams, canals, ditches and lateral head gates, drops, etc., at $2,500,000. Their construction of this dam will create an inland lake fifteen miles long and about five miles wide with an average depth of about twenty-five feet. Storage reservoirs will be constructed on both sides of the canyon above also, so as to replenish the lake from time to time and keep it up to high water mark.

Then John fired three shots at Miller all taking effect. Miller seized John, then Bob cut Miller in the back. Miller drew his knife and went to work on both. The fight lasted about five minutes, at the end of which Bob and John Carter were both dead. Miller died a few hours later.
